Sake

Sake prices are per glass.

Japan

Chiba

AFS 2015, Kidoizumi Shuzo,

€ 7,50

Only producer to use the Hot Yamahai procedure. Hence the soft lacto acidity. Experience the riesling under the sakes, fresh crisp acidity. Light-bodied, elegant soft aftertaste. Unpasteurised.

Daigo No Shizuku 2015, Terarda Honke,

€ 7,--

15 th century bodaimoto method, predating even kimoto. Of course unpasteurised, unfiltered, undiluted. Less control on lactic acid levels means bizarre fresh acidic sake. Grapefruit, acidic, slight bitters, but in the aftertaste, a little bit of citrus sweetness. Great company of shellfish. Organic.

Katori 90 2015, Terarda Honke,

€ 6,--

Only 10 % polished (polish rate 90%). Slow brew old fashioned kimoto procedure. Organic, let nature take its course. Deep rice aroma and flavor. Powerfull and intense. Dry finish.

Fukuoka

Biden 1999, Inoue Gomei,

€ 6,50

Soft Koshu (aged sake). Broad but gentle, caramel and nutty. Long finish. A junmai at polish rate 65%.

Iberaki

Sato No Homare Kazan 2014, Sudo Honke,

€ 8,--

Most affordable sake brewed bij Sudo Honke, champions of the ginjo and daiginjo styles. One of the oldest existing companies in the world. Founded in 1141, but still in the lead. Kazan has a polish rate of 55 %. Unpasteurized, unfiltered, nateral yeast. Maybe the sake which is the most recognisable as a "sake" in our selection. Soft rice flavours, elegant and refined, powerful body. Smooth finish.

Sake

Kyoto

Tamagawa 2015, Kinoshita Shuzo, € 6,--

Made by Philip Harper, only not-Japanese master brewer. Pre-modern Cuvée Sauvage style. No added yeast, unpasteurised, unfiltered, undiluted. 65% polish rate. Strong wild rice aroma's. Powerfull sake with a lot of body, soft finish with gentle bitters.

Ine Mankai 2015, Mukai Shuzo, € 8,--

Red sake of a ancient black/purple rice, almost extinct. Fruity, pomegranete and olive oil. Bit smoky but fresh, slightly sweet, but strangely, a fino aftertaste. Refined. Produced by one of the first female brewers of Japan. Very experimental.

Shiga

Taiko No Izanai 2002, Uehara Shuzo, € 10,--

Seawater sake unfiltered. Uehara is the only brewer, who only slightly dilutes the salty water. Undrinkable in the first 3 years, but remarkable after 13 years. Salinity is unmistakable there, but contributing to the complex flavors, and not a nuisance. Yamahai method, unpasteurised, unfiltered, undiluted hardly polished. Not even expressive, but explosive! A lot of rice flavors, then salinity, smoky, broad and long. Throw any strong food flavor at this sake, and it it wil not be impressed!

Omiji Kijoushu 1978, Omi Shuzo, (5 cc) € 9,--

Imperial recipe sake, only once produced by this brewery. Neglected by the local population, it had the time to develop in full complexity. Soy sauce nose, Madeira flavours, dry sake finish. Long, intense, extreme. Drink with chocolate, game or as a cognac on its own.

Wakayama

Tsuruume Suppai 2012, Haiwa Shuzo, € 6,--

Plum wine, umeshu, like it should be. From the best region for plums in Japan. Three times the normal amount of plums are used. Aged 3 years. Almonds nose, marzipan, very aromatic. Perfect balance between sweetness, en acidity. Refreshing. Spring desserts, aperitif, digestif.
